

Dublin Historical Record (DHR)

Our journal appears twice each year in Spring and Autumn and each member receives a copy. The Record contains papers on a wide range of topics delivered at Society meetings by members or invited guest speakers. All papers are thoroughly researched, referenced and cited. They include new material as well as fresh interpretations of familiar information and comprise a unique source of historical knowledge about Dublin.

Since 1938 when the journal was first published, members have made their research work available to all through the Dublin Historical Record. This material is fully accessible through the Indexes to the Dublin Historical Record published by the Society. Indexes are available for every issue appearing from 1938-2010, indexed by topic, author, book reviews and obituaries. These Indexes are available in most public libraries or can be purchased directly from the Old Dublin Society, as well as a small number of back issues of the DHR...
